SENATORIAL FIGHT IS ON THIS WEEK

SHEPPARD IS EXPECTED TO REACH AUSTIN TODAY TO LEAD HIS FORCES.

JOHNSTON MEN ORGANIZED

Probe of the Law Office to Begin Today—Pen Probe May Fail, Insurance Law.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 26.—The hearing on the measure proposing to put all officers on a salary basis will be continued tomorrow when the act will be heard. There may be some arguments against the bill also submitted. Those gentlemen opposing the proposed legislation have by no means disappeared entirely. Many of them are still here. As the legislature launches its third week of its session, the outlook is not for tranquility for several days. There comes Tuesday the election of a United States senator for the long and short term. With the Sheppard forces claiming victory in both elections, with the Johnston forces insisting that it is a fight to the bitter end, tranquility will no doubt be disturbed for several days during the week. Morris Sheppard is expected here tomorrow.

In the senate the investigation of the attorney general's department for five years past will begin. Former Attorney General J. P. Lightfoot and James D. Walthall were here today. R. V. Davidson will arrive in the morning, according to advices to his friends. This investigation will no doubt detract somewhat from the interest in pending legislation, as investigations usually do.

There are set for hearing this week again a number of interesting bills, which will no doubt attract interest. The house should complete its consideration of the Katy consolidation bill in its committee of common carriers. Then an effort will be made to fight it through the legislature in a hurry.

Pen Probe May Fail.
The senate during the course of the work must dispose of the proposition to investigate the penitentiary system. The presence of W. H. Gill, former chairman of the board under the Campbell administration, and A. M. Barton, auditor of the system now under the Campbell administration, has given rise to rumors that perhaps these gentlemen are here to take a hand in the investigation matter now pending. Indications the past few days have been that the plan for the investigation will fail.

Chairman Cabell of the prison commission arrived today to confer tomorrow further with regard to the contract for the lease of the Rusk iron furnace. Attorney General Looney found that it did not show the names of the parties for whom H. A. O'Neal is trustee, and that it was defective in this regard. There will be a conference, in which Mr. O'Neal will be present, in which the whole matter will be threshed out.

F. J. Huey, who is making a special audit of the prison commission books, also arrived to give Governor Colquitt certain information for his special message on the penitentiary.

Insurance Board Law

The fight to repeal the insurance board law has not yet developed. The local fire insurance agents are going to make a vigorous effort to prevent the outright repeal of the law, but they are laying low with their plans until after the senatorial election and the liquor bill are out of the way. They say the insurance concerns would like to see the law repealed, but they, as agents, do not consider it practical. Instead, they propose an amended law, which will have certain qualifications. It will make certain that friends of those suffering as fire insurance agents, in an effort to cut out agents who write unsatisfactory risks. Likewise, it will provide that agents may make temporary rates at any time on new risks. The effort to repeal the law will meet a rather stormy path and will be one of the nicest struggles of the legislative session.

Representative Humphrey, who fathers the governor's ideas with regard to amending the stock and bond law, says that the subcommittee of the house judiciary committee has agreed to report that bill favorably. He favors the Colquitt idea, and thinks that the subcommittee report will be a decided advantage to him in making his contention for it.

WIRELESS NEWS OF BATTLE

BREAK IN BEULA LEVEE GROWS WIDER; ALLOWING 6 FEET FLOW OF WATER; PRECAUTIONS MAY LESSEN DAMAGES

Greenville, Miss., Jan. 26.—At a late hour this evening the crevasse in the Beulah levee was widening very slowly after having reached a width of 125 feet. It is pouring at a depth of six feet of water. Train service on the Riverside division of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroad, running within a few miles of the Beulah levee, had not been interrupted. It is not believed any lives were lost, as the water is spreading very slowly, filling up the depressions and the natural streams.

The planters in the Bogue Phalia Basin have been preparing for the emergency a little loss of stock and cattle is anticipated. Efforts will be made to tie the ends of the levee at the break and, as the levee is constructed of stiff buckshot earth, the belief is expressed that the crevasse will not widen to any great extent.

The serious feature of the break is the fact that, coming this early, the chances are that it cannot be closed during the high water season, which may last until May, and the expense of caring for stock and labor in the overflowed section for two or three months will be heavy, and a great burden.

Elliott, assistant to the depot quartermaster of the United States army at St. Louis, arrived in Evansville today under assignment from Major General Wood to supply flood sufferers. He has authority to draw upon army funds for the relief of the people who will be homeless as a result of the Beulah crevasse.

SHIP REPORTED SINKING; TUGS RUSH TO AID

Los Angeles, Jan. 26.—The steel steamer Mackinaw, which sailed from San Pedro tonight, struck the breakwater at the entrance to the harbor and is reported to be sinking.

Captain Robert Dollar of the Dollar Steamship company and a number of friends are said to be the only passengers. Tugs have gone to the rescue.

No boats, containing the forty-five or fifty men aboard the Mackinaw, had landed up to 10 o'clock tonight and it is believed that the men have been picked up by tugs.

Wireless messages received here tonight by members of Captain Robert Dollar's family from the Mackinaw said that the crew and Captain Dollar were abandoning the wrecked freighter and taking to small boats. A tug was standing by.

The messages said Captain Dollar boarded the vessel at San Pedro. No other passengers were aboard the Mackinaw.

The Mackinaw, a steel hulled vessel 270 feet in length, is owned by W. S. Cannell & Co. of this city and is valued at $125,000. Her cargo is valued at $30,000.

REBELS CRIPPLE RAILROAD

Proposed Peace Negotiations Are Unfavorable at Juarez.
El Paso, Jan. 26.—Rebels cut the Mexican Central railway a few miles below the border early today. The rebel general Marcelino Caravay, with 500 men, is reported to be operating south of Juarez in retaliation for yesterday's movement of troops out of Juarez.

Related reports from Jimenez, at which point the Central railway was cut last week, say rebels under Cheche Campos have taken Escalon on the Chihuahua-Durango state boundary. A small federal garrison resisted briefly.

Peace negotiations are progressing unfavorably. Telegrams said to come from President Madero today request that Ahumada, between Juarez and Chihuahua City, be selected as the place of meeting. It is offered to withdraw the federal garrison and allow the rebels to occupy the town. The rebels insist on Guadalupe, on the Texas border, thirty miles east of El Paso, as the point of meeting.

Manuel A. Lujan, who was Orozco's representative at Washington, arrived here today from Los Angeles. He doubtless will head the rebel delegation should actual negotiations occur. He will visit Guadalupe tomorrow to confer with General Salazar.

CHURCH SINGERS IN STRIKE

Eight Princeton Students Fill Capacity as Strike-breakers at Trenton, N. J.
Trenton, N. J., Jan. 26.—Eight Princeton students were brought here today and in the capacity of strike-breakers sang the morning and evening service of St. Michael's Episcopal church in place of the members of the regular choir, who had struck because they declared the rector was interfering with them and their organization.

The organist walked out and a substitute had to be engaged. The strikers emulated their brethren in labor disputes by picketing on the outside of the church and as a result of their talk with intending worshippers many of the latter did not attend the service.

The students sang the music well. After the night service they returned to Princeton.

ROGER DYRNE QUILTS FIGHT ON KATY BILL

Austin, Texas, Jan. 26.—Hon. Roger Dyne returned Sunday from his home at Smithville, where he consulted his constituents in regard to the Katy consolidation bill. He announced last night that he will not press his amendment to require the railroad to keep its shops at Smithville. He says he found no legal status for the amendment and that he did not believe he could consistently urge it further.

Gunboat Wheeling Lands—Mexicans Extend Good Welcome—Quiet Rules at Port.
Vera Cruz, Mex., Jan. 26.—The United States gunboat Wheeling, which was ordered to Vera Cruz by the American government because of reports of alarming conditions in this section, arrived here this morning from Tampa.

Official visits will be exchanged tomorrow but it is certain that the reception of the Americans will be cold, as Mexicans are not particularly pleased at the visit of an American warship.

At present the situation in and around Vera Cruz is quiet.

PLANS OF EXTRA SESSION ARE UP

Washington, Jan. 26.—Although the scope of the legislation to be taken up at the approaching extra session of congress has not yet been outlined, congressional committees are rapidly pushing their preliminary work to a point where recommendations can be made to President-elect Wilson and plans for the early work of the extra session.

WILSON FAVORS HEALTH BUREAU

Hoboken, N. J., Jan. 26.—President-elect Wilson today addressed a private gathering of prominent social workers at the home of Mrs. Caroline B. Alexander, where he and his family were week-end guests.

In a statement given out by Mrs. Alexander, setting forth Governor Wilson's remarks, he is quoted as declaring that in forwarding the movement for a national bureau of health it was desirable to remove the impression that the government expected to set up a "medical trust."

The governor is reported as having said that there was no intention to put any school of medicine in charge of national health projects, but that all schools of medicine should work in harmony on the question of sanitation, which he considered most important.

Several speeches were made, embracing immigration, child labor, prison reform, and industrial returns. No newspaper men were admitted, and Governor Wilson could not be reached tonight to make any comment on the conference. The statement given out at the Alexander home quotes the president-elect as saying:

"Every subject treated here today engages my deep interest and enthusiasm. My enthusiasm is in proportion, generally, to the practicability of a scheme. I have always been eager to forward general principles, but I do not feel the breath fill my lungs until I see the practical plan. I hope you will always come to me with plans and you may depend upon me to consider those plans with interest and friendliness."

"Most of the things that you have spoken of are without political embarrassment. One that does have political embarrassment is the health department project. Already, in dealing with medical education in New Jersey, we have political difficulties, bureaus of various independent schools of medicine that have sprung up on all sides. There is a fear in many minds that we are about to set up what has been called a medical trust and it is very desirable to remove that idea. I have never seen any serious proposal to put any particular school of medicine in charge of the national health."

"With regard to the children's bureau, another similar difficulty exists. My own party, in some of its elements, represents a very strong state's right feeling. It is very plain that you would have to go much further than most interpretations of the constitution would allow if you were to give to the government general control over child labor throughout the country. It is important to make it generally understood that the purpose of your bureau is to collect and co-ordinate information on the subject."

"I want, above all things, to enjoy the confidence of and to have at my service the information and counsel of those who are engaged in these fundamental things. Most of the vitality of public action comes from outside government. The movement does not originate. It responds to public opinion. You all try to regard yourselves as forces playing upon the government and I hope that during the next four years you will find a responsible part in the government at the top."

Recalls McElwain's Statement.
A. J. McElwain, secretary for the southern states of the national child labor committee and chairman of the juvenile advisory committee of the children's council of Washington, D. C., while speaking of "Washington as a Model City," criticized the system of government of the District of Columbia, as called by men with connection with representative real estate concerns. Governor Wilson is reported as saying in the statement:

"Dr. McElwain excited me, because he put under my nose a fresh trail and the kind of a trail that I always will follow with zest."

The governor planned to be at the state house in Trenton tomorrow.

ALLIES BREAK NEGOTIATIONS

ACTION FOLLOWS ARRIVAL OF FULL POWERS FROM THE GOVERNMENTS.

PEACE GAP YET OPEN

BALKANS AROUSE PRESSURE WITHOUT RESUMING WAR.

FOLLOW TEMPORIZING POLICY

Committee to Draft Note to Turkish Plenipotentiaries Explaining End of Conference.

London, Jan. 26.—The Balkan allies today decided to break peace negotiations with Turkey. The action of the allies leaves a gap, however, which may result in obtaining their point without resuming the war.

The Balkan plenipotentiaries have received full powers from their respective governments, and have appointed a committee to draft a note to the Turkish plenipotentiaries, explaining why the peace conference must now be considered broken off. It is hoped the note will be ready for approval by the full delegation Monday night.

This action by the allies is part of a series of well considered forms of pressure with which the Balkan delegates hope to obtain their object without resuming the war.

Committee Named.
The meeting today lasted for an hour and a half and the course to be followed was given earnest consideration. Two distinct views were manifested—one for the immediate rupture of the negotiations, leading to a resumption of the war, and the other favoring a temporizing policy, in order to avoid irrevocable steps. The latter course triumphed and a committee was appointed, consisting of one member from each delegation, as follows:

Michael Madjaroff, Bulgarian minister at London; Prof. Georgios Streit, Greek minister to Austria-Hungary; Count Voynovitch, chief of King Nicholas' cabinet, representing Montenegro, and Dr. R. M. Vosenich, Serbian minister to France, with the addition of M. Politis of the Greek delegation, owing to his knowledge of French and his thorough acquaintance with international law.

General lines were laid down on which the note is to be drafted, comprising the arguments already set forth many times as to why the league demands the surrender of Adrianople and the Aegean islands, as an indispensable condition to the conclusion of peace.

That the policy of the allies is to gain time is patent and does not deceive anybody. The delegations decided that the advantages to be derived from the continuation of negotiations would be in proportion to the risks they ran and that they would not take that step unless absolutely forced to do so. It is realized that even a partial reverse would have grave moral and material consequences, apart from the loss of thousands of men.

In addition, the fact is not overlooked that there is danger of Roumania advancing from the rear and of Austria imposing on Montenegro and Serbia her conditions for remaining neutral. The only disadvantage for delaying decisive action is in keeping large armies inactive and on a war footing for a long time, thus draining both the financial and agricultural resources of the countries.

DAGGER WOUNDS FOUND

Investigation Into Killing of Nazim Pasha Is Made.
London, Jan. 27.—Unscored Constantinople dispatches received in London confirm the previous accounts of the revolt against the government and the shooting of the war minister, Nazim Pasha.

The dispatches add little to the details already known, but state that the autopsy on the officers killed disclosed that the bodies bore dagger wounds as well as bullet wounds, thus throwing doubt on the assertion that the killing was unpremeditated.

According to the Daily Mail, the Balkan situation in Turkey will give four days grace to enable the powers to devise any possible means to bring pressure upon the Porte.

The Mail also says that Colonel Jostoff, chief of staff of the third Bulgarian army, before Tehatalja, who is acting as military adviser to the peace mission, will leave London for the front tomorrow and that all the powers, including Russia and Austria, have given assurance that the facilities shall be limited to the Balkan states and Turkey.

EDUCATION ON WAR

Declares Turks Must Be Driven From Europe.
San Francisco, Jan. 26.—Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, and a close student of European politics, declared this afternoon in an address before the San Francisco Y. M. C. A. that the Turks must be driven from Europe at any cost.

"If you cannot get arbitrators to do it, if you cannot get lawyers to do it, then let the sword be drawn streaming blood red," he said.

"It is a struggle of a liberty-loving people," he continued. "To free itself from the insults of Turkish domination. In essence, this war is a struggle of the freedom of the will as presented by European peoples and the fatalism of the Orient."

SPLIT ON SUFFRAGE PROBLEM

Cabinet Council at London Has Momentous Question at Their Hands. Speakers' Ruling.

London, Jan. 26.—The cabinet council, which will assemble tomorrow has to decide the momentous question as to how to deal with the dilemma caused by the speaker's ruling on the franchise question. This ruling, which was made Thursday in answer to a question asked by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, was that if the form and substance of the bill were materially changed by amendments it should be withdrawn and a new bill presented.

Such strong conflicting opposition has been provoked by the thorny problem of the women's vote that fears are expressed as to whether the government will be able to weather the storm. It has been faced on the one side by the suffragettes, who are calling upon the premier to redeem his pledge to the women, and on the other by those, even some liberals, who express the opinion that the government has no right to force through parliament such a revolutionary reform as giving the ballot to women without first appealing to the country.

The ministers insist that the question cannot involve any cabinet regulations and argue that any alternative government bill would be faced by exactly identical difficulties on the women's vote question.

TARIFF HEARINGS NEAR CONCLUSION

COMMITTEE WILL HAVE INVESTIGATED FOURTEEN SCHEDULES OF DUTIES.

WOOL RATE IS IMPORTANT

Investigations Will Take Up This Subject Today—Many Arguments Are Expected.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The tariff hearings, covering the fourteen schedules of the present law, along with the free list and miscellaneous articles and general administrative provisions, will come to a close with the end of this week. Wool, perhaps the most formidable of all from the tariff makers' standpoint, will be taken up tomorrow, with prospects for a lively session and plenty of arguments from wool growers, manufacturers, importers and exporters. The importance of the schedule is shown by the average of 60 per cent ad valorem as a barrier for protection of the big woolen industry of this country. The imports under the schedule last year produced 9 per cent of the total government revenue, covering the importation of more than $18,000,000.

Representative Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee, has frequently voiced to witnesses the committee's policy regarding the tariff.

"We cannot," he said, "consent and allow taxes to be so high that they will prohibit importation, where the taxes will go to the manufacturers and none into the government's pockets. We are not complaining against taxes where there is a reasonable amount of importation, but we are protesting against those taxes where they are prohibitive and where, therefore, practically nothing comes in. If we pull down the prohibitive wall so that there is some competition and the government gets some benefit, the public will be benefited by the gathering of these taxes for public improvements, military maintenance and the courts. There is no intention of reducing the tariff along competitive lines so low as to disturb business prosperity. This is the general position of the democratic majority of the committee that will set about during the first week of February the framing of the entire new tariff law in a tentative way for the incoming congress."

Many of the witnesses have indicated that they represented virtually all of their respective industries, as well as their individual concerns.

RAILROADS AGREE TO ARBITRATION

STATEMENT MADE PUBLIC IN BEHALF OF 54 EASTERN LINES.

FIREMEN ARE TAKING VOTE

Corporations Declare They Are Willing to Present Case to Board of 5 to 7 Members.

New York, Jan. 26.—Reiteration of their willingness to submit to arbitration the demands of their locomotive firemen for increased wages and better working conditions is contained in a statement issued on behalf of 54 eastern railroads. The 30,000 members of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen and engineers employed by these roads, after the suspension recently of protracted negotiations between their representatives and a committee of managers, are taking a strike vote.

In their statement today the railroads take exception to a quoted statement by the representatives of the firemen "that their report of the recent conferences contained evidence that the responsibility for a failure to arbitrate all matters in controversy, and thus avoid the turmoil incidental to a strike ballot and the distress that must result from a strike, rests upon the railroads and not upon the locomotive firemen."

In reply, the roads declare they have signified to the men a willingness "to grant certain increases of wages" and to apply to the firemen the conclusions of the arbitration board which settled the recent differences between the roads and their engineers. In addition, the statement declared:

"The railroads are prepared to arbitrate the present case independently by a board of five or seven men appointed by some such disinterested authorities as Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court, and Dr. C. P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor, as was done in the engineers' case."

The statement was sent out by Elisha Lee, chairman of the managers committee of the roads.

The break in the negotiations between the firemen and roads, it was generally understood, came through differences as to the method of arbitration. Both sides endorsed the principle, but the roads declared in favor of a board similar to that which decided last year the dispute of the engineers, while the firemen insisted that arbitration under the Erdman law was the proper course.

WEATHER FORECAST FOR WEEK

Rain In South to Be Followed By Fair Conditions Later in the Week.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Pressure distributed over the northern hemisphere today, according to the weekly weather bureau bulletin, indicates that after some rains and snows tonight and Monday from the upper lake region eastward, the weather will be generally fair over the middle and northern districts east of the Mississippi river during the first half of the week, while in the south there will be rains.

"Following the eastward movement of a depression now over the upper lake region and Ontario," says the bulletin, "there will be a considerable fall in temperature north of the Ohio river and in the lower Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys, but no unusually low temperatures are expected."

"A disturbance will appear over the north Pacific coast and British Columbia early in the week, attended by rains and snows. It will move eastward and southeastward, reaching the northern plains states Tuesday or Wednesday and the eastern districts by Thursday and will be followed by rising pressure and lower temperatures that will reach the northeastern portion of the country by the end of the week, by which time another disturbance should appear in the far northwest."

"Over the interior central and southern districts, west of the Rocky Mountains, fair weather will prevail during the greater part of the week, while in the south generally fair weather is indicated during the second half of the week."

LAW ALONE CAN CONTROL

Statement is Before House Money Trust Committee That Has Been Conducting Inquiry.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Members of the house money trust committee, who are to draft a report on results of the inquiry into financial affairs thus far conducted, have before them for consideration a brief just filed in behalf of the New York Stock Exchange by its attorneys denying that the federal government has power to compel its incorporation or to regulate its affairs.

The state of New York, it is admitted in the brief, has power to enact laws for the guidance of the exchange, though the belief is expressed in the argument that no law either by state or nation will stop certain transactions. It is further asserted that the members of the stock exchange are better able to control its affairs than any legislative authority.

"We assert," says the brief, "that no regulation whatever is within the power of congress. But we are far from asserting that the state is without any power of regulation."

"That the state may legislate with respect to transactions, such as improper manipulation, is unquestionable. How effectively it can exchange as to such matters is another question. Hopes and expectations in that direction are apt to be in adverse ratio of experience. It is a regulation interfering with and diminishing the responsible self-movement of such an exchange that we argue against as detrimental in an incalculable degree, as well to the interests of the public as those of the exchange."

"Defending the rules of the stock exchange," the brief declares, "its business is of neither interstate or foreign character, nor do its operations in any respect come within the sphere of the federal jurisdiction."

Rules of the exchange, the brief declares, prohibit manipulation, short selling and general gambling, reports of which are said to be exaggerated by the general public. The answer to all charges against the exchange is said to lie in the statement that all transactions are matters between customer and broker, with which the exchange has nothing to do, so long as highest standards of business honesty are maintained.

The brief also contains many legal decisions submitted to prove that the stock exchange cannot be subject to the interstate commerce act.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT

Manufacturers Make Proposition to Garment Workers—Increase in Wages Offered to Women.

New York, Jan. 26.—The strike of garment workers of this city seemed tonight in a fair way of settlement so far as the larger portion of the strikers is concerned. At a conference today a proposition providing for a sliding scale of wage increases to be applied to both regular and piece workers and a fifty-two hour working week was made by representatives of manufacturers employing about 50,000 of the more than 100,000 garment workers who have been on strike for four weeks. The union of the United Garment Workers of America, that the union representatives tentatively accepted the proposal, agreeing to place it before their executive board for final action, is accepted as favorable development.

The proposition of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association and the Clothing Contractors' association as tentatively accepted calls for an immediate increase of ten per cent for all workers receiving $12 a week or less; 7½ per cent for all workers receiving more than $12 and less than $15 and for all receiving more than $15 an increase of 5 per cent. In no case is the increase to be less than 11 a week.

The New York Clothing Trades' association, which has refused to recognize the union or to deal with its representatives, is not a party to the agreement.

A letter addressed to the union officials and signed by the representatives of the Manufacturers' association, agreeing to carry out their part of the new contract, will be delivered tomorrow. The answer of the union executive board is expected to be made early this week.

THORP CASE UP.

National Registration Committee Will Investigate Charges.

New York, Jan. 26.—The National registration committee of the Amateur Athletic union will take up on Tuesday the charges affecting the amateur standing of James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, according to James E. Sullivan, secretary of the A. A. U., tonight.

Thorpe and Glenn Warner, athletic coach at the Carlisle Indian school, it is understood will be given a hearing. The real work of probing the matter rests with the Middle Atlantic association of the A. A. U., as Carlisle is in that body's territory and Thorpe is directly under its jurisdiction.

The Middle Atlantic association, it is said, has already taken up the charges and will present the facts at the meeting. Should it be decided Thorpe received money for playing ball he will return to Sweden the trophies he won at the Olympic games. While the deduction of his points would affect America's total to some extent, it would not change the result.

New Orleans, Jan. 26.—The Norwegian steamship Origen, from New Orleans for Bocas del Toro, Panama, ran ashore in Cuba's Gap last evening during a dense fog. A tug has been sent to her assistance.

Looking Toward the Hills of Marin County From the Northern Axis of the Grand Court of Honor, Panama-Pacific Exposition.

IN the center is seen a colossal column whose spirals represent man's climb toward fame. At the summit of the column a huge symbolic figure is designed to convey the spirit of success. At the south end of the Court of Honor will be the Administration building, with its 375 foot tower dominating the architecture of the exposition. At the base of the tower, which will occupy one acre in extent, will be a huge arcade, beneath which the visitor may enter from the south garden or Alameda into the Court of Honor. The dimensions of the Court of Honor will be 400 by 900 feet. Before the tower the visitor will see in the Court of Honor the greatest achievement typified in the construction of the Panama canal. Perhaps the most impressive feature of the Court of Honor will be found in a superb classic colonnade extending entirely around the court and surmounted by figures designed to represent on the one side the spirit of the east and on the other the spirit of the west. These figures, of which there will be 110, will be twenty-four feet in height, and each will stand out in radiance through a crown of dazzling jewels of light.

SEA FIGHTER'S BODY BURIED

Impressive Ceremonies Mark Transfer of Corps of John Paul Jones to New Crypt.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 26.—With simple but impressive ceremonies the body of John Paul Jones, first admiral of the American navy, was today placed in its final resting place in the new crypt under the naval academy chapel.
Secretary of the Navy Meyer, French Ambassador Jusserand and Governor Goldsbrough were among those present.

Escorted by a brigade of 700 midshipmen, at whose head was the naval academy band playing a funeral dirge, the casket was transported from Bancroft hall to the chapel on a car drawn by a squad of bluejackets. It was then carried on the shoulders of the "jacks" into the crypt, lowered into a receptacle chiseled out of solid marble, and a heavy marble lid placed over it.

Afterward memorial services were held in the chapel, conducted by Chaplain Scott of the naval academy and Chaplain U. G. B. Pierce of the United States senate. The eulogy was delivered by Chaplain Pierce.

The body of the famous seafighter had lain in the rotunda of Bancroft hall since it was brought to this country from France several years ago.

KNICKERBOCKER MAKES A REPLY

HAS LARGE AUDIENCE TO HEAR
HIS ANSWER TO RABBI WARSAW.

QUOTES THE SUPREME COURT

On the Corsicana Case Regarding the Bible in the Public Schools.
The Lord's Prayer.

A steady downpour of rain at church time yesterday did not prevent the auditorium of the Austin Avenue Methodist church from being filled when Dr. H. D. Knickerbocker, the pastor, made answer to the sermon preached by Rabbi I. Warsaw at the Jewish temple Friday evening, when the rabbi delivered his position against the reading of the Bible in the public schools. While there were many women in the audience, a majority present were men.

Dr. Knickerbocker said:
"The question at issue between Dr.
Warsaw and myself I want to distinctly state. I affirm that it is right and proper to read the Bible, without comment, in the public schools of the state. Mark you, simply that, and nothing more. Very many have unintentionally or wilfully perverted my position. I do not stand for the teaching of sectarian doctrine in the public schools. I do not stand for the extension of sectarian denominational alien in any wise in the public schools. I simply stand for the right to read the Bible, without comment, in the public schools, and for the rightness of opening exercises of some sort which shall include this reading of the Bible.

"I am perfectly willing, in deference to the opinions of others, that the chapters of passages of scripture should be selected chapters or passages, and in as far as it is practicable those that are unobjectionable to those who believe in religion at all.

Details the Issue.
"Rabbi Warsaw took the negative of that proposition, and says that it is wrong to read the Bible, to read the Bible at all, in the public schools.
So that is the issue between us.
"I wish the rabbi might have been engaged. He is not absent because he was not willing to take a little sarcasm or to listen to a few stories at his expense. Nor is he absent because there is any enmity between him and me. We think more of each other than we did before. So you need fear no unchristian or un-godly animosities as the result of this controversy.

"The rabbi—this much personal—by his announcement of his sermon and then by repeated statements in his sermon, conveyed the impression to me that he was a good many others that the present incumbent of Austin avenue Methodist church is an irresponsible ignoramus. It is true that I am the beginning of this debate. I made one bad admission. I admitted that I did not know it all. But the rabbi confessed to the soft impen-etrability of his own knowledge. In his discourse he impressed that on us in many ways. He tells us of his university training and his scientific conscience. He tells us of his vast library, within whose walls he finds the wisdom of his massive and that he knows all languages; that he knows all Bibles; and so on and on he gave out the impression that wisdom and judgment well in their fullness in the concavity where resides his massive brain.

"On the other hand, the present incumbent of Austin Avenue Methodist church made many misstatements of facts of history, according to the rabbi's version thereof.

Details in Logic.

"I want to show you how my opponent lacks in logical faculty or knowledge or both by just taking that statement. He knows, or might have known, certainly should have known that the present incumbent of Austin avenue Methodist church occupies one of the leading pulpits of a denomination of 2,000,000 members; that he has occupied other leading pulpits in the state; that the estimation in which he is held by the bishop is such that there is not a single great church in the South that is not open to him; that he receives the largest salary of any preacher in the state; that there is no larger salary paid in the whole denomination than this incumbent receives; all of which are the premises upon which my opponent bases his deduction that the incumbent is an irresponsible ignoramus.

"Now I confess to you I cannot see how such logic as that will hold.

"Having said this much by way of introduction, I will tell you that privately the rabbi confessed to me that he had no such intention, and that it was only because of my brilliance and smile and all the rest of my good qualities in that regard that he paid any attention to my sermon. Amen.

Hard Question.
"Now, my opponent gives me from his standpoint a hard question when he asks me to answer without equivocation whether or not certain verses in the fifth chapter of Matthew are teaching doctrine that is good to teach to humanity. These verses are as follows:

"Ye have heard that it has been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth; but I say unto you that you must not evil, and whosoever smite you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man shall sue thee at law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also.
And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain. Give to him that asketh of thee, and to him that would borrow of thee turn not away."

"Now, that is the teaching that the rabbi objects to in the teachings of Jesus Christ. The rabbi knows all Bibles. He may know the externals of them, but a twelve-year-old Protestant child would know a better interpretation of that scripture than the rabbi gave. He is a bald literalist in his interpretation. He says it means literally, baldly, just what it says, and so he attempts to make it ridiculous.

Asks Question.
"Listen: If Jesus had said to you:

"There are times when love for its own sake ought not to claim and will not claim its own rights," would you have said that was an obnoxious doctrine?
That is what the rabbi means. It means that there are times when love, for love's dear sake, ought to be willing to give up its rights. St. Paul explains it in a verse in the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians: 'Love seeketh not her own,' because when by giving up her own she may serve the great divine objects of love.

"It further means that love will always do more than the law requires.
It was a custom in old days that it was lawful for a man to ask another one to go with him a mile to show him on his way, but the man that would be his friend would go with him two miles, instead of one if at the end of one mile the man had not found the right path.

"The rabbi appealed to our natural, carnal selves when he said if a man smites you hit back. He illustrated it with war. The revolution and the civil war are great divine illustrations, according to him, of what men ought to do. But because of the teachings of Jesus Christ and his high divine ideals men are fast coming to ward the place when they will agree, when they do agree, in a large measure, with Sherman, who said—and no one knew better than he—'war is hell,' and war is always hell. The few wars that we have had that settled some questions and had some good results do not in the least venture the further fact that infinitely better and diviner ways might have been,
could have been, and would have been found if men had only listened to the teachings of this scripture.

Tells Story.
"The bald literalism of my opponent reminds me of a little story. An old woman who was a witch had fallen out with her husband. A neighbor said to her: 'Have you ever tried heaping coals of fire on his head?'
"She said: 'No, I never tried that,
but I have tried pouring 'biling' water on his head.' (Laughter.)

"Hear me. The rabbi said that this man had an idea to hang upon the stars. He struck it just right. God, who made the stars, would hang this ideal upon the stars. And there is no more forcible proof of the Godhood, the divinity of Jesus Christ, than the unhuman standards that he has set up for us. The rabbi was right when he said that his statements would meet with approval from the natural man—I mean from unregenerate human nature—when he said hit back when you are hit. No one who was a mere man would ever have hung upon the stars of men so divine a standard as this.
We will admit that after 2,000 years of growth we have not yet reached it, because it was God who drew the standard. And perhaps we shall not ever reach it fully, but we will approximate it more and more. And the fact that we are reaching it is the fullness of the majesty of the stature of Jesus Christ, the Son of God.

Calls It Misstatement.

"Then, my opponent is a bald lit-eralist in his interpretation of some of my statements. I said nowhere had I ever found a place where a Jew was treated like he was in Waco. Now unhappily he refutes that by finding one Jew down at Cameron who has been made mayor of that city. I said that Jews and Roman Catholics would make protest against the reading of the Bible in the public schools. He finds some one who is a rabbi and proclaims that I have made a misstatement. Anybody who understands logic must understand that a universal premise is almost an impossibility. It was never my intention to say that there was no one in the world who ever objected to the reading of the Bible in the public schools except the Roman Catholics and Jews. It was my intention to say what I now repeat: That the principal objectors anywhere and everywhere are Roman Catholics, Jews and infidels. And that fact, I repeat, is the present condition of this controversy; that the protest came from a Jew, and is being also voiced by Roman Catholics. They are the originators of the protest.

"To be able to meet such bald literal-ism as that a man would have to make statements that absolutely admitted of no exceptions. His logic reminds me of this kind of a statement.
I say the atmosphere is full of air.
Dr. Warsaw goes off and finds in a laboratory an air pump which has two feet of vacuum, and says: 'Knickerbocker has made a misstatement; all the atmosphere is not full of air.'
"The fact remains, and no one who knows the situation in the world can dispute it, that in the United States, where the Protestant religion has its greatest exemplification, the Jew has more liberty and more chance than anywhere else in the world.

Character Teaches.

"My opponent objects to the teaching of religion by character, a suggestion which I made in my last discourse, that religion should be taught by character. Well, I do not have to answer his objections, because that is not a theory of mine. It is a condition in the Waco public schools that now exists. Every woman in these schools—and there are Jewesses, Roman Catholics and Protestants—is teaching, and she cannot help teaching, by her character what she believes. Life speaks louder than words. The way the teachers live before the children is a constant teaching of them, and they live according to their beliefs.

"But the argument is given that the teacher, who in a figurative way stands before the child as a god or goddess in the estimation of the child, does not eat pork, and the argument given that the child might go home and say: 'My goddess does not eat pork,' is childish.

"My opponent must have known if he thought a half-inch deep that I was talking about the great funda-mentals of religion, not such as they might eat or might not eat. I was talking about honesty and truth and all the great fundamentals of morality and righteousness which are now being taught in the public schools of Waco by Jewesses, by Roman Catholics and by Protestants. That is a condition, not a theory, and it is a condition which I do not object.

Religious Teachers a Need.
"I made the further statement that it is better to have religious teachers, because religion is at the basis of character building. If the rabbi denies that he lines himself up with the infidels, who deny that religion has anything to do with the making of character; if the rabbi denies that religion is essentially the genesis of great character, then he ought to resign his position as a teacher of religion, for if religion is not an essential of character, it is not necessary to teach religion at all.

"I do not advocate setting up an inquisition. I simply made the statement, which I now repeat, that it is better for a teacher to be religious.
Who dares deny it?"

"Again, some voluminous historical quotations were made by my opponent. Some of them were taken from the Jewish encyclopedia, which perhaps is not an unbiased source. But whether those historical facts were true or not has nothing to do with the question. They are like the flowers that bloom in the spring, the sea and have nothing to do with the case.
They had considerable weight with my audience, but I am going to show you that they were as little airy nothings of Shakespeare's fancy.

Refers to Academic Sayings.

"First, they were purely academic,
purely impractical in the application of the question: Should the Bible be read in the public schools in 1913?
Is there anybody here who believes that ever in Waco anybody will advocate the tearing out of a Jew's tongue through the back of his neck?
Does anybody believe that there is the remotest possibility that ever in Waco a man would be burned at the stake because of his religion? It is purely academic.

"Listen: I hear one say those things have been done in the past; they may be done again. Here is the strongest and most glorious fact that I can give you. History repeats itself. That is true. Then you say some of the intolerance may have its martyrs again.
Never. Because this glorious day has no precedent in history. The present age of tolerance, of the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God has no precedent in history.

"History will repeat itself, and repeat itself by the reduplication of the good grapes and the glory of this present age, so that tolerance will grow ever more and more and brotherhood ever greater and greater. There is a promise in that. There is no precedent for this day, but this day will be a precedent for many a more glorious day that lies in the future.

"And again. These historical quotations have nothing to do with the case, because we admit, and any student of history or political science either, knows that the doctrine of liberty of conscience and the doctrine of political liberty are an evolution. For us to admit that 200 years ago there was intolerance does not vitiate the liberty of today. If it did not, we would have to say that the Jews of today are the vile things that were concerning the Jews that are ascribed to him, please do not forget that they were never carried out. They were simply vapors of a sour hour in his

Waco, Texas, January 25, 1913.

GENTLEMEN:

It gives me pleasure to say a good word for your new addition, "Highland Place," and I do not mind saying that I consider property in this addition to be as good as there is in Waco.

You are to be commended for the manner in which you have improved the addition, for nothing adds to the growth of a city more than well located, highly improved residence sections.

As you well know, I show my faith by my actions, for I have bought a lot in this addition and expect to build a home on it and make it my residence later on.

Very truly yours,

E. R. SMITH, Sec. News Pub. Co.

TWO MORE DAYS OF DIAMOND RING SPECIAL; SIX OF CONTEST

Indications Point to a Furious Finish and
New Subscriptions Will Play Important Part—Public at High Pitch.

CANDIDATES LINING UP TO CLOSE CAMPAIGN

Candidates Should Read Contest Page Daily—Claims and Counter Claims of Candidates and Friends Indicate That the Final Outcome Is Very Much in Doubt.

The standings of the candidates today are just as they will be during the remainder, and only includes votes cast up to 4 p. m. Saturday.

The big diamond ring and bonus vote special has only two more days to run. Girls, this is a short time to work and win one of those elegant diamond rings. The subscriptions that you secure between now and Tuesday night at 9 o'clock may be the means of winning one of these rings and incidentally one of the other prizes. It is a fact that three of these prizes will go to each district, and the autos, player piano and building lots will go to those polling the first and second and third greatest vote in their respective divisions, and the diamond rings offered as special prizes will go to the two candidates who turn into the Morning News office the greatest amount of business between January 21 and January 28, 9 p. m. inclusive. This is not a lucky contest, but a contest where you have to get the votes to win.

Contest Closes Saturday.
The climax in this big contest comes next Saturday night at 10 o'clock and candidates, both in the country and city, must have every subscription and vote in the Morning News office by this hour if they wish them counted, as the doors of the office will be locked promptly at the stroke of ten and no one will be allowed to enter until every one who is in the office has been waited upon. It might be well to state the indications are that the contest department will be a very busy place on the closing day, and it would lighten the burdens of the contest manager considerably if the contestants would turn in their subscriptions as early as possible, thereby avoiding a rush at the last minute. Remember, the contest closes at 10 p. m. sharp, Saturday, February 1st.

ISTHMOSES' TRAFFIC HEAVY
Statistics Show $125,000,000 of Commerce Carried via Panama and Tehuantepec Passages.

Washington, Jan. 26.—One hundred and twenty-five million dollars represents the value of the commerce between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States via the isthmuses of Panama and Tehuantepec during the last year. The rapid growth in this trade, which developed within recent years, according to a statement issued by the bureau of statistics today, seems likely to increase further with the opening of the Panama canal. The record for the five months ending with November shows $24,500,000 worth of merchandise passing from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast via the Tehuantepec railroad, and $5,000,000 worth via the Panama railroad; while the value of that passing from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic was, via the Tehuantepec line about $14,330,000, and via the Panama line $3,750,000. This indicates that the total value of the traffic for the half year ended December 1 was approximately $13,000,000 west bound across the Tehuantepec route and $5,000,000 via the Panama line, and of east bound, coming from the Pacific coast points and Hawaii, $16,000,000 via Tehuantepec and $4,500,000 via Panama, and that the total value of this traffic for the full year approximates $125,000,000.

CORN GROWERS TO CONVE

Representatives and Exhibits From Many States at Columbia, S. C. Southern Men Present.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 26.—With practically all preparations completed the fifth National Corn Exposition will open here tomorrow. Exhibits from twenty-seven states, the federal department of agriculture and other sources dealing with practically every phase of agriculture have been installed. They were made up at the agricultural colleges and experiment stations and present the results of research work along all lines of agriculture. All are devoted to a fundamental treatment of vital problems in the social life of the rural community. There also are individual exhibits from farmers in twenty-six states, selected to secure an aggregation representative of each. Prof. W. H. Plunkett, well-known leader of Irish agricultural reform, will visit the exposition on Thursday, and James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, and the agricultural committee of the house of representatives will be here on Saturday, the last day of the prize-winners' school, which will be conducted during the first week.

A large number of prize-winning corn club boys from various southern states have arrived to attend the school. Prize-winning Tomatoes club girls from twelve states also will be present. The student body will be representative of every southern state. The exposition will continue through February 8.

PARCEL POST CREATES NEED

Postoffice Buildings at Washington Will Have to Be Remodeled to Suffice.

Washington, Jan. 26.—To provide adequate space for handling parcel post business it will be necessary to revise plans of many public buildings in which post offices are located, and negotiations to this end already have been instituted by Postmaster General Hitchcock. Today the postmaster general invited the supervising architect of the treasury and his assistants to co-operate in the matter with the building committee of the post office department and the special parcel post committee.

At present 174 public buildings are under contract and 223 additional have been appropriated for by congress. They approximate in cost $50,000,000. The plans for these buildings have been prepared without regard for the needs of the parcel post system and it is now essential that changes be made in their construction in order that the increased volume of mail may be handled advantageously.

In 750 post offices located in government buildings it will be necessary to make alterations to meet the requirements of the parcel post. In some instances the purchase of additional ground on which to construct annexes will have to be made.

MINERS MAY GET DANGER WARNING

GOVERNMENT SUGGESTS PLAN TO LESSEN LOSS OF LIFE.

BUREAU MAKES INVESTIGATION

Report to Effect Atmospheric Pressure Has Much to Do With Gas Explosions.

Washington, Jan. 26.—For the purpose of warning mine operators at times when explosions are likely to occur as a result of atmospheric pressure conditions, the United States weather bureau is notifying the mine owners throughout the country that it will inform them if they so desire when extra precautions should be taken.

In its circular the bureau declares that "when there is a marked fall in atmospheric pressure, the chances of mine explosions are greatly increased." Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the United States bureau of mines, expressed the fear today that "the warnings themselves may add to the risks and dangers in mines where gases occur in dangerous quantities." Investigations have been going on during the last two years, he said, as to the influence of weather conditions, especially atmospheric pressure, as indicated by the barometer, upon the amount of gas in coal mines, but the results obtained to date have not been conclusive.

Tells of Value.
"As to the value of warnings," Dr. Holmes declared, "that will depend upon the way in which they are used. If, as is hoped, they serve to make miners and mine operators more careful when these warnings are issued and not less careful at other times, they may do good in mines where gases accumulate in quantities. If, however, they should serve to make miners and operators less careful during the extended intervals between the receipts of such warnings, the warnings may increase the hazards of mining in these coal mines and thus lead indirectly to the cause of disasters. It should be remembered that a large portion of the mine explosions in the bituminous coal fields are dust explosions and most of these occur in what are called 'non-gaseous' mines. These would hardly be influenced by atmospheric pressure."

Prof. Edward H. Bowle of the weather bureau, who has studied the question, said there was no doubt that atmospheric pressure increased or decreased danger of mine explosions, depending on whether the pressure was low or high, respectively; and that in England warnings similar to those proposed here had been issued for some years.

The bureau's conclusion, he said, had been the result of careful observation, both abroad and in this country.

WIRELESS TREATY UNDER WAY

Provisions Would First Take Care of Distress Calls and Extension of General Protection.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Ratifications of the wireless telegraph treaty signed at London July 9, 1912, will, it is expected, be exchanged at the British capital within a few weeks by the signatory powers. The senate's ratification of the treaty a few days ago paves the way for this formality, as practically all the other governments are understood to have approved the treaty, which will become effective July 1, 1913.

By this convention the important maritime nations of the world have linked themselves together to obtain the widest international range of usefulness of the wireless without restriction as to its further development.

One of the most important provisions of the treaty is that compelling the free exchange of communication between ships and coast stations employing different systems of radio appliances. With the Titanic disaster fresh in the minds of the delegates, all opposition to this doctrine faded. It is provided that the transmission of long distance wireless messages shall be interrupted for three minutes at the end of every quarter-hour to permit all stations to listen for distress calls, which are given precedence over everything else. This was an American proposition, based, according to the report of the American delegate to Secretary Knox, upon the fact that at least two steamships which were nearer the Titanic than the Carpathia were prevented from hearing the distress calls of the sinking vessel by reason of the fact that transmission of press news prevented the ships from being received by apparatus of limited capacity.

Other provisions relate to the transmission of weather reports, measures to prevent the interference of long distance with ordinary wave lengths, compelling the installation of wireless on certain classes of ships and the maintenance of a continuous watch for distress signals.

SOCIAL EVIL OF CITIES, PROBLEM

JOHN ROCKEFELLER JR. MAKES PUBLIC FINDINGS OF BUREAU.

AIMS TO PLAN BETTERMENTS

Corps of Workers to Learn Conditions That Some Remedy May Be Applied.

New York, Jan. 26.—The elaborate investigation of the social evil in New York undertaken two years ago by the Bureau of Social Hygiene is nearly completed, and its resume will be announced next December according to a statement issued tonight by John D. Rockefeller Jr. Mr. Rockefeller says also that an exhaustive inquiry of conditions in European cities have been made, and that the bureau plans to extend its work to other American cities in order to become familiar with all phases of the subject and the methods of dealing with it.

A corps of workers, under the direction of George J. Kneeland, who directed the Chicago vice commission investigation, the announcement states, has made a survey of conditions in disorderly resorts, hotels, saloons, cafes, massage parlors and other places in New York where vicious persons congregate. In addition it has obtained the personal histories of some 3000 women of the underworld.

"Based upon all these studies," Mr. Rockefeller adds, "it is the hope of the bureau that there may be devised a practical plan for dealing with the social evil in New York City—a plan which public opinion can be brought to support."

Mr. Rockefeller is one of four members of the bureau. The others are Paul M. Warburg, Starr J. Murphy and Miss Katherine Bement Davis, superintendent of the New York State Reformatory for Women. The bureau came into existence two years ago as a result of the work of the special grand jury of which Mr. Rockefeller was foreman, appointed to investigate the white slave traffic in this city.

The Bureau of Social Hygiene came into existence about two years ago, as a result of the work of the special grand jury appointed to investigate the white slave traffic in New York City, which served during the first half of the year 1910. One of the recommendations made by it in the presentment handed up at the termination of its labors was that a public commission be appointed to study the social evil. The foreman of that body subsequently gave careful consideration to the character of the work which might properly be done by such a commission and the limitations under which it would operate. In this connection, separate, personal conferences were held with over a hundred leading men and women in the city, among whom were lawyers, physicians, business men, bank presidents of commercial organizations, clergymen, settlement workers, social workers, labor leaders and reformers.

These conferences developed the feeling that a public commission would be the most effective way to deal with the social evil. The commission was organized, and its members, including Mr. Rockefeller, have been working ever since to bring about a permanent reform. The commission has been working ever since to bring about a permanent reform. The commission has been working ever since to bring about a permanent reform.

So the conviction grew that in order to make a real and lasting improvement in conditions, a permanent organization should be created, the dependence upon a temporary body of reform, nor upon the life of any man or group of men, but which would go on, generation after generation, continuously making warfare against the forces of evil. It also appeared that a private organization would have, among other advantages, a certain freedom from publicity and from political bias, which a publicly appointed commission could not so easily avoid.

Therefore, as the initial step, in the winter of 1911 The Bureau of Social Hygiene was formed. Its present members are Miss Katherine Bement Davis, superintendent of the New York State Reformatory for Women at Bedford Hills, New York; Paul M. Warburg, of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; Starr J. Murphy, of the New York bar, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. As the work develops, new members may be added.

One of the first things undertaken by the Bureau was the establishment at Bedford Hills, adjacent to the reformatory, of a Laboratory of Social Hygiene, under Miss Davis' direction. In this laboratory, it is proposed to study from the physical, mental, social and moral side each person committed to the reformatory. This study will be carried on by experts and each case will be kept under observation.

REVIEW OF BUSINESS.

STOCKS RECOVER FROM THE DEPRESSING INFLUENCE OF PREVIOUS WEEK.

Overflow of Gold From New York to France Has Little Effect in Equalizing Money.

New York, Jan. 26.—Adverse factors which had been operating to depress stocks were less effective last week and the way was opened to some recovery. Bear traders discovered that they had been selling stocks faster than supplies in the market warranted and their duty to cover shorts accounted as much as any positive recuperative forces for the reversal in price movements in the forefront of the week.

Among these recuperative forces was the submission of the Turkish government to the advice of the powers to concede the demands of the Balkan allies. The subsequent disorders in Constantinople impaired the effect on the markets.

Confidence remained that the war would not be renewed and the disappointing first response of financial markets to these developments to destroy their ultimate power to resolve many of the difficulties which have grown up in the money markets since last autumn.

The opinion has grown that the weakness of the American stock market has been due more than was at first suspected to the heavy return of securities to New York for sale after the war broke out. They were bought here in the hope that a return demand would soon revive, but the buyers found themselves in difficulties before that revival came owing to the stringency of the autumn money markets.

Last week's large outflow of gold from New York to France and Argentina had little effect in equalizing money conditions. Money remained easy in New York and firm abroad and foreign exchange in New York held firm. The plethora of money in New York has failed as yet to cause any effective improvement in investment demand.

Publication of the bills recommended to the New Jersey legislature by the president-elect seemed to lessen apprehension caused in the stock market by this subject. Misgivings persisted over the solution of the Union Pacific dissolution problem. Sale of a stock exchange seat for $50,000, the lowest price for several years, was a symptom of the feeling of discouragement.

for from three weeks to three months, as may be required. When the diagnosis is completed, it is hoped that the laboratory will be in position to recommend the treatment most likely to reform the individual, or, if reformation is impossible, to recommend permanent custodial care. Furthermore, reaching out beyond the individual involved, it is believed that, thus important contributions may be made to a fuller knowledge and understanding of the social evil, and, if this experiment is successful, the principle may prove applicable to all classes of criminals and the conditions precedent to crime, and lead to lines of action not only more scientific and humane, but also less costly than those at present followed.

In entering upon its labors, the Bureau regarded it of fundamental importance to make a careful study of the social evil in this country and in Europe, feeling that this problem, like any other great and difficult one, requires intelligent and comprehensive knowledge of all the factors involved, as well as all the methods and experiences of other cities and countries in dealing with it. Arrangements were made, therefore, in the early part of last winter to secure the services of George J. Kneeland, who had directed the Chicago vice commission investigation. Since that time, Mr. Kneeland, with a corps of assistants, has been making a thorough and comprehensive survey of the conditions of vice in New York City. This survey has covered not only houses of prostitution, Raffles law hotels, disorderly saloons, cafes and restaurants, massage parlors and other places where vicious people congregate, but also the personal histories of some two thousand prostitutes; and a study of all the case records for one year of a great majority of the hospitals and dispensaries in New York City, with a view to ascertaining the prevalence of venereal diseases and their ratio to all other diseases. Mr. Kneeland's report is now in progress of preparation and will be published within the next two months.

At the same time, the Bureau was fortunate in securing the services of Abraham Flexner, whose reports on the medical schools in this country and in Europe are so well known, to study the social evil and the various methods of dealing with it in the leading cities of Europe. Mr. Flexner spent the greater part of a year abroad, making a searching and extensive inquiry into the subject, and is now working on a report, which will be ready for publication this winter.

These studies are to be followed by others, in those cities in the United States where different conditions exist or where special methods of dealing with the social evil have been introduced, the object being to become familiar with all phases of the subject and all methods of handling it which have been tried in this country and in Europe.

Based upon all these studies, which will probably be published by December of this year, it is the hope of the Bureau that there may be devised a practical plan for dealing with the social evil in New York City—a plan which public opinion can be brought to support.

In conclusion, it cannot be too strongly emphasized that the spirit which dominates the work of the Bureau is not sensational or sentimental or hysterical; that it is not a spirit of criticism of public officials; but that it is essentially a spirit of constructive suggestion and of deep scientific as well as humane interest in a great world problem.

STEEL DEALS HEAVY

RAILROADS PLACE BIG ORDERS WITH MILLS—OUTLOOK IS GOOD.

Other Interesting Contracts Are Those for 20,000 Tons of Plates for New Battleships.

New York, Jan. 26.—Three railroads, the St. Paul, the Great Northern and the Chicago & Northwestern, came into the market last week for supplementary orders for rails aggregating 150,000 tons, and additional orders from Canadian roads aggregating 30,000 tons, have practically been placed with American mills. The Canton & Hankow railroad of China has ordered 5000 tons of rails, a Brazilian road 3000 tons of standard sections, and Canadian traction lines 5000 tons of girder rails from the United States Steel corporation.

The railroads have placed additional orders for passenger and freight cars aggregating 7500 cars and negotiations are under way for 18,000 additional cars, calling for 250,000 tons of steel products. The Rock Island has ordered 35 locomotives and the Erie ten engines in the last week, making January bookings the largest monthly orders for such equipment since 1906.

There is more interest in fabricated structural steel in all sections. Last week the fabricating shops took orders for a little over 15,000 tons of structural shapes.

Among other interesting contracts pending are 20,000 tons of plates and shapes, including armor plate for the new battleship Pennsylvania; 3000 tons of steel line pipe for Port Arthur, Canada, another 3000 tons of wrought pipe for the Philadelphia company of Pittsburgh.

STATISTICS UNCOVER COTTON

Week's Deals Will Be Based on Supply and Demand Alone. Warfare Watched.

New Orleans, Jan. 26.—The cotton market this week will not be hampered by any statistical or crop reports of importance, outside of the regular weekly figures, and the trade will therefore be in a position to attempt to discount conditions as they relate to the broad questions of supply and demand. The one feature that is at all likely to divert interest from these questions is the Balkan situation.

A resumption of hostilities in the Balkan territory would probably give the cotton market a setback, but developments that will tend toward the establishment of peace will only serve to attract added notice to the large business being done by the cotton manufacturers of Europe. Settlement of the war would immediately give the long side a chance to claim, and probably with considerable degree of truth, that large orders for cloths would pour in on weavers. Trade in the near east has been interrupted by the war and stocks of goods have been depleted, if cable messages from Liverpool and Manchester bearing on this subject are true.

In connection with the question of consumption of cotton, Russia will be watched closely this week. During the early part of the season shippers of cotton on this side found that they could do nothing with Russian importers or spinners because the latter believed that the Russian crop of cotton would be fully large enough to supply their needs. Russian needs have been larger than estimated and now the spinners of that country are becoming interested in American goods. Probably the result of any great demand from that country will first be felt in the Bremen market, which, the bears point out, is carrying ample stocks.

COTTON GOODS DEALS QUIET

Blanket Mills Sell Their Fall Output. Prices Generally Are Lower. Jobbers Are Busy.

New York, Jan. 26.—Cotton goods markets have quieted down in all directions. Leading blanket mills have sold their fall output and are out of the market. Drills and sheetings are steady, with operations of limited proportions. In print cloths trading has been more active at lower prices. Staple and dress gingham are in more active call. Staple gingham and tickings were advanced during the week and wide sheetings also were advanced. Bleached cottons show little or no change. Printed goods are quiet. Fine novelty cottons are in better request for quick shipment.

Jobbers are doing a much better general business and report that distribution has been broader than for some time. Export markets have been quiet. Strikes among the cutting trades in New York and elsewhere are interfering with the consumption of goods, and mills are being asked to hold back goods until the troubles are over. Prices on cotton goods rule as follows:

Print cloths, 25-inch 64x64s, 4c; 64x80s 3 3/4c; 38 1/2-inch 64x64s 5 1/4c; southern sheetings, standard, 8c; denims, 9-ounce, 14c; tickings, 8-ounce 13 1/4c; staple gingham 6 1/2c; dress gingham 9 1/4c; staple prints 5 1/2c.
